Mandatory Advising

Believe it or not we are already starting mandatory advising for _____ course registration. Advising is mandatory in the School of Engineering and you must meet with an advisor prior to your course enrollment time. There will be an enrollment hold on your account until this meeting occurs.

The School of Engineering utilizes group advising for this process. Please sign up for your group advising session in Nexus. Attendance and participation at this session will be required to lift your enrollment hold and allow you to enroll in _____ classes. Please email your advisor if there is not a time that works with your schedule.

Prior to your session please run your academic requirements report and view your enrollment time. These will help you be prepared for your session.

For those of you with 54 or more credits you will have an additional enrollment hold on your account called the “preliminary plan of study”. This must be completed and approved before your hold can come off. Please view the instructions here.

Peer mentors are available for assistance with course registration. You may view their drop-in schedule here. Please be sure to take care of any other holds on your account as soon as possible (Bursar, SHaW, etc.).
